

SOCIETY

Society has slipped tea, played cards and enjoyed a tranquil time during the week. It has not been inordinately gay, and in fact was not nearly so lively as the preceding fortnight. This was only a temporary rest and the autumn gaieties will go on with as much zest as ever. The theatrical entertainments brought society together and on society night a number of box parties witnessed the thespians.

There has not been anything resembling an epidemic of wedding in society. A long time in fact, there has only been an occasional stray marriage in the life of the city. The wedding of Miss Grace Young and Kenneth Kerr, both of Salt Lake, was the only one of the kind in the city during the week. The wedding was held on Friday night, and was attended by a large number of guests. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Young, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Jones. The bride and groom were both very happy and the wedding was a most successful one.

Mr. Lane, of Washington, D. C., has become a favorite of the local society. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marshall at a high life party on Tuesday night, at which Mrs. Thomas Marshall will be the hostess.

Fort society were out at one of their favorite homes on Thursday evening. It was given in honor of General Wheaton, and several guests from the city were present.

A pretty appointed dinner was given at the Alta club on Thursday night by Mrs. M. G. Lane. The table was decorated with flowers and the guests were most comfortable. The dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, and the guests were most comfortable.

Mrs. A. C. Thompson and Miss Thompson entertained a large party of guests on Wednesday evening. The festivities to which the guests were bidden were elegant without being elaborate. The apartments were decorated most effectively and after a manner that was typical of the autumn season. The guests were most comfortable and the dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Mrs. T. J. Almy entertained again during the week, this time at a most charming luncheon. It was given on Tuesday afternoon and was attended by a few friends of the hostess. The table was neatly adorned and all the appointments were pretty and attractive. The guests were most comfortable and the dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

A new art and society journal is to come out this week under the title of "Four Hundred." It will be conducted by a few writers on social and artistic subjects and will be made of special interest to fashionable circles in Salt Lake. Such a magazine is much needed in Salt Lake and the new literary enterprise is expected to receive a liberal support from society's votaries. Besides the above, the journal will contain short stories and poetry, and will be made up of the best of the art and society world.

Mrs. Nelson has cards out for a party on Thursday afternoon to meet Mr. Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, of Helena, are guests of Mrs. O. J. Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Folsom, who are just returning to San Francisco from a European trip, are stopping in a city as the guests of the Shearman, 515 East Second South. They will remain here for a few days and on continue on to the coast.

Mr. J. C. Shipp will give a dinner Monday night at the Alta to a few his bachelor friends.

Miss Edna Cohn returned during the week from Sacramento, where she has been visiting her cousin, Mrs. B. Block.

A pretty luncheon was given by Mrs. H. Segal on Thursday afternoon. The guests were most comfortable and the dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Mrs. H. Segal entertained during the week in honor of Colonel M. H. Hecht, of San Francisco, at her home, 735 East Second South. The guests were most comfortable and the dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Oglesby have returned from their late wedding trip to the east.

James Anderson was the hostess at Kensington, on Wednesday, in compliment to Mrs. McCarthy and her daughter.

Mrs. F. W. Billing gives a luncheon Saturday in honor of Mrs. Lane, of Elkhart.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Scarf are now in the city on their new home, 237 F. St.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Mrs. Mary Dorr, and Miss Dorr spent Wednesday at Brigham in making a trip through the mines.

James Anderson entertained a small party of friends at her home on Tuesday. It was a most enjoyable party and the dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Mr. Jacob Morris left recently for Francisco, where he will remain for some time.

Mr. Kerber, of Chicago, who has been the guest of Mr. Pearson for some time, has returned to the east.

Frank A. Fuller, of New York, visiting his uncle, Mr. William P. Roy, at 135 P. street.

Samuel Hughes received a few letters yesterday afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Lane.

Emmanuel Kahn entertained a party of friends at her home on Friday. The guests were most comfortable and the dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bamberger, of the Episcopal church, the bride's costume was of duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Miss Julia Kiesel was bridesmaid and Harry Grugeneau acted as best man. Julius Kiesel, father of the bride, gave her away. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

A pretty, though quiet wedding of two young people took place in the city on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fretwell in Utah. Rev. G. M. Jeffrey of Ogden performed the ceremony. The bride was Miss Maud Alexander of Ogden, W. L. Wadsworth was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

Mr. M. A. Meyendorff of Helena, now spending a few days in Salt Lake on his way east, has consented to deliver his famous lecture in this city. The Woman's club have decided to present him with him to deliver the lecture once under their auspices, and they will share in the receipts. In fact, as the lecturer bears the bulk of the expense, the event may be looked upon as a Woman's club benefit. The lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Congregational church on East First South street.

Mr. Meyendorff's rank in Poland was that of a colonel, which he inherited from his father, but his estates were taken from him by the czar because of his participation in the Polish insurrection of 1831, and the title he was exchanged for that of a plain citizen of the United States, and he would be today an exile in Siberia were it not for the intervention of the United States government. It is this romantic chapter in his history that Mr. Meyendorff recites in his lecture. Few men can point to such a thrilling experience, and no other but Mr. Meyendorff can trace a release from Siberia to the kind offices of the United States. He entered the last Polish revolution when he was but a boy of not yet 14 years, after participating in a few battles he was taken prisoner and sentenced to banishment to Siberia for life. He saw the inside of several Russian prisons, and finally marched on foot with 200 other political prisoners to the wilds of Siberia, where he remained in exile eighteen months. He had a half brother in the United States, who did valiant service for the civil war, and at his request President Lincoln, through Secretary Seward, petitioned the czar to allow Mr. Meyendorff to come to America. The czar granted the request and Mr. Meyendorff was released. He came at once to this country, where he finished his education and has since resided. His experiences in the old country he has put in the shape of a lecture, which he will soon deliver in all the large cities of the country under the management of Major Pond. He has delivered it in Helena, Butte, Spokane and other northwestern cities, and is met with the warmest commendation from press and people. It is interesting to old and young alike, and Salt Lakeers will no doubt be pleased that an opportunity of hearing it is to be afforded them next Tuesday.

One of the charming social events of the past week was the wedding reception tendered to Mr. Claude V. Russell and bride, at the home of the groom's mother, on East Fifth street, on Thursday evening. The young couple were married at the temple Thursday afternoon. The groom is well known in Salt Lake, and the bride, who is the daughter of Bishop Woolley of the Ninth ward, is one of Salt Lake's most charming young women. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and a few of the near relatives and friends of the bride and groom assembled and wished the happy couple a long, prosperous and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

A dancing party will be given at Christensen's hall on Friday evening, October 18, by the Free Kindergarten association, under the chaperonage of the ladies who are interested in its welfare.

Dr. Pinkerton is entertaining his old time New York friend Dr. Charles Armstrong.

The Unity club met last Wednesday evening and was highly entertained by the lecture of Professor George W. Marshall upon "Early New England." The literature and traits of the people were graphically described and some amusing accounts were given of the abundance of literature written at that time, most of which was worthless, although now, the books are worth their weight in gold. He spoke of compulsory education at that time and the severe discipline which the pupils experienced under it. One of the requirements for entering college, was to read, write and talk fluently Latin and Greek. However, theology was the important subject of that time. It was interestingly brought out that Utah owes much of its success to the industry and zeal of the Puritans since its early inhabitants were from New England.

Nineteenth Century Club. The Nineteenth Century club met on Friday, Oct. 11, and in the absence of president and vice-president was called to order by the secretary. After the reading of the minutes for Sept. 27, Miss Florence Pemberton gave the principal paper of the afternoon, her subject, "German Music and Philosophers of the Eighteenth Century," was a vast one and was excellently handled. She followed the lives of some of Germany's greatest musicians through their struggles to their pitiful closing and marked carefully the contrast between the trials of a lifetime and the honor and renown which follow them today.

Among the philosophers Kant, Fichte and Hegel, Miss Fitch added a very interesting account of the life and works of Caroline Herschel. Her account was very interesting and was followed by a reading of a review of "Desire the Bonnie Brash" and read several delightful extracts from Miss Alice Kellogg's new book, "The Life of the Day and the Night," which she read for one week.

STOP AND STEP. To the Woman's Club, for your millinery and dressmaking, 44 Main street, next to Johnson, Pratt & Co.

WEBER SOCIETY EVENTS. Two prominent society people of Ogden were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Thomas C. Conway and Miss Louise Kiesel were the parties. Rev. A. A. Andrew performed the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church. The bride's costume was of duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Miss Julia Kiesel was bridesmaid and Harry Grugeneau acted as best man. Julius Kiesel, father of the bride, gave her away. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

A pretty, though quiet wedding of two young people took place in the city on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fretwell in Utah. Rev. G. M. Jeffrey of Ogden performed the ceremony. The bride was Miss Maud Alexander of Ogden, W. L. Wadsworth was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

Mr. M. A. Meyendorff of Helena, now spending a few days in Salt Lake on his way east, has consented to deliver his famous lecture in this city. The Woman's club have decided to present him with him to deliver the lecture once under their auspices, and they will share in the receipts. In fact, as the lecturer bears the bulk of the expense, the event may be looked upon as a Woman's club benefit. The lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Congregational church on East First South street.

Mr. Meyendorff's rank in Poland was that of a colonel, which he inherited from his father, but his estates were taken from him by the czar because of his participation in the Polish insurrection of 1831, and the title he was exchanged for that of a plain citizen of the United States, and he would be today an exile in Siberia were it not for the intervention of the United States government. It is this romantic chapter in his history that Mr. Meyendorff recites in his lecture. Few men can point to such a thrilling experience, and no other but Mr. Meyendorff can trace a release from Siberia to the kind offices of the United States. He entered the last Polish revolution when he was but a boy of not yet 14 years, after participating in a few battles he was taken prisoner and sentenced to banishment to Siberia for life. He saw the inside of several Russian prisons, and finally marched on foot with 200 other political prisoners to the wilds of Siberia, where he remained in exile eighteen months. He had a half brother in the United States, who did valiant service for the civil war, and at his request President Lincoln, through Secretary Seward, petitioned the czar to allow Mr. Meyendorff to come to America. The czar granted the request and Mr. Meyendorff was released. He came at once to this country, where he finished his education and has since resided. His experiences in the old country he has put in the shape of a lecture, which he will soon deliver in all the large cities of the country under the management of Major Pond. He has delivered it in Helena, Butte, Spokane and other northwestern cities, and is met with the warmest commendation from press and people. It is interesting to old and young alike, and Salt Lakeers will no doubt be pleased that an opportunity of hearing it is to be afforded them next Tuesday.

One of the charming social events of the past week was the wedding reception tendered to Mr. Claude V. Russell and bride, at the home of the groom's mother, on East Fifth street, on Thursday evening. The young couple were married at the temple Thursday afternoon. The groom is well known in Salt Lake, and the bride, who is the daughter of Bishop Woolley of the Ninth ward, is one of Salt Lake's most charming young women. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and a few of the near relatives and friends of the bride and groom assembled and wished the happy couple a long, prosperous and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

A dancing party will be given at Christensen's hall on Friday evening, October 18, by the Free Kindergarten association, under the chaperonage of the ladies who are interested in its welfare.

Dr. Pinkerton is entertaining his old time New York friend Dr. Charles Armstrong.

The Unity club met last Wednesday evening and was highly entertained by the lecture of Professor George W. Marshall upon "Early New England." The literature and traits of the people were graphically described and some amusing accounts were given of the abundance of literature written at that time, most of which was worthless, although now, the books are worth their weight in gold. He spoke of compulsory education at that time and the severe discipline which the pupils experienced under it. One of the requirements for entering college, was to read, write and talk fluently Latin and Greek. However, theology was the important subject of that time. It was interestingly brought out that Utah owes much of its success to the industry and zeal of the Puritans since its early inhabitants were from New England.

Nineteenth Century Club. The Nineteenth Century club met on Friday, Oct. 11, and in the absence of president and vice-president was called to order by the secretary. After the reading of the minutes for Sept. 27, Miss Florence Pemberton gave the principal paper of the afternoon, her subject, "German Music and Philosophers of the Eighteenth Century," was a vast one and was excellently handled. She followed the lives of some of Germany's greatest musicians through their struggles to their pitiful closing and marked carefully the contrast between the trials of a lifetime and the honor and renown which follow them today.

Among the philosophers Kant, Fichte and Hegel, Miss Fitch added a very interesting account of the life and works of Caroline Herschel. Her account was very interesting and was followed by a reading of a review of "Desire the Bonnie Brash" and read several delightful extracts from Miss Alice Kellogg's new book, "The Life of the Day and the Night," which she read for one week.

STOP AND STEP. To the Woman's Club, for your millinery and dressmaking, 44 Main street, next to Johnson, Pratt & Co.

WEBER SOCIETY EVENTS. Two prominent society people of Ogden were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Thomas C. Conway and Miss Louise Kiesel were the parties. Rev. A. A. Andrew performed the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church. The bride's costume was of duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Miss Julia Kiesel was bridesmaid and Harry Grugeneau acted as best man. Julius Kiesel, father of the bride, gave her away. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

A pretty, though quiet wedding of two young people took place in the city on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fretwell in Utah. Rev. G. M. Jeffrey of Ogden performed the ceremony. The bride was Miss Maud Alexander of Ogden, W. L. Wadsworth was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

Mr. M. A. Meyendorff of Helena, now spending a few days in Salt Lake on his way east, has consented to deliver his famous lecture in this city. The Woman's club have decided to present him with him to deliver the lecture once under their auspices, and they will share in the receipts. In fact, as the lecturer bears the bulk of the expense, the event may be looked upon as a Woman's club benefit. The lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Congregational church on East First South street.

Mr. Meyendorff's rank in Poland was that of a colonel, which he inherited from his father, but his estates were taken from him by the czar because of his participation in the Polish insurrection of 1831, and the title he was exchanged for that of a plain citizen of the United States, and he would be today an exile in Siberia were it not for the intervention of the United States government. It is this romantic chapter in his history that Mr. Meyendorff recites in his lecture. Few men can point to such a thrilling experience, and no other but Mr. Meyendorff can trace a release from Siberia to the kind offices of the United States. He entered the last Polish revolution when he was but a boy of not yet 14 years, after participating in a few battles he was taken prisoner and sentenced to banishment to Siberia for life. He saw the inside of several Russian prisons, and finally marched on foot with 200 other political prisoners to the wilds of Siberia, where he remained in exile eighteen months. He had a half brother in the United States, who did valiant service for the civil war, and at his request President Lincoln, through Secretary Seward, petitioned the czar to allow Mr. Meyendorff to come to America. The czar granted the request and Mr. Meyendorff was released. He came at once to this country, where he finished his education and has since resided. His experiences in the old country he has put in the shape of a lecture, which he will soon deliver in all the large cities of the country under the management of Major Pond. He has delivered it in Helena, Butte, Spokane and other northwestern cities, and is met with the warmest commendation from press and people. It is interesting to old and young alike, and Salt Lakeers will no doubt be pleased that an opportunity of hearing it is to be afforded them next Tuesday.

One of the charming social events of the past week was the wedding reception tendered to Mr. Claude V. Russell and bride, at the home of the groom's mother, on East Fifth street, on Thursday evening. The young couple were married at the temple Thursday afternoon. The groom is well known in Salt Lake, and the bride, who is the daughter of Bishop Woolley of the Ninth ward, is one of Salt Lake's most charming young women. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and a few of the near relatives and friends of the bride and groom assembled and wished the happy couple a long, prosperous and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

A dancing party will be given at Christensen's hall on Friday evening, October 18, by the Free Kindergarten association, under the chaperonage of the ladies who are interested in its welfare.

Dr. Pinkerton is entertaining his old time New York friend Dr. Charles Armstrong.

The Unity club met last Wednesday evening and was highly entertained by the lecture of Professor George W. Marshall upon "Early New England." The literature and traits of the people were graphically described and some amusing accounts were given of the abundance of literature written at that time, most of which was worthless, although now, the books are worth their weight in gold. He spoke of compulsory education at that time and the severe discipline which the pupils experienced under it. One of the requirements for entering college, was to read, write and talk fluently Latin and Greek. However, theology was the important subject of that time. It was interestingly brought out that Utah owes much of its success to the industry and zeal of the Puritans since its early inhabitants were from New England.

Nineteenth Century Club. The Nineteenth Century club met on Friday, Oct. 11, and in the absence of president and vice-president was called to order by the secretary. After the reading of the minutes for Sept. 27, Miss Florence Pemberton gave the principal paper of the afternoon, her subject, "German Music and Philosophers of the Eighteenth Century," was a vast one and was excellently handled. She followed the lives of some of Germany's greatest musicians through their struggles to their pitiful closing and marked carefully the contrast between the trials of a lifetime and the honor and renown which follow them today.

Among the philosophers Kant, Fichte and Hegel, Miss Fitch added a very interesting account of the life and works of Caroline Herschel. Her account was very interesting and was followed by a reading of a review of "Desire the Bonnie Brash" and read several delightful extracts from Miss Alice Kellogg's new book, "The Life of the Day and the Night," which she read for one week.

STOP AND STEP. To the Woman's Club, for your millinery and dressmaking, 44 Main street, next to Johnson, Pratt & Co.

WEBER SOCIETY EVENTS. Two prominent society people of Ogden were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Thomas C. Conway and Miss Louise Kiesel were the parties. Rev. A. A. Andrew performed the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church. The bride's costume was of duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Miss Julia Kiesel was bridesmaid and Harry Grugeneau acted as best man. Julius Kiesel, father of the bride, gave her away. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

A pretty, though quiet wedding of two young people took place in the city on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fretwell in Utah. Rev. G. M. Jeffrey of Ogden performed the ceremony. The bride was Miss Maud Alexander of Ogden, W. L. Wadsworth was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

Mr. M. A. Meyendorff of Helena, now spending a few days in Salt Lake on his way east, has consented to deliver his famous lecture in this city. The Woman's club have decided to present him with him to deliver the lecture once under their auspices, and they will share in the receipts. In fact, as the lecturer bears the bulk of the expense, the event may be looked upon as a Woman's club benefit. The lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Congregational church on East First South street.

Mr. Meyendorff's rank in Poland was that of a colonel, which he inherited from his father, but his estates were taken from him by the czar because of his participation in the Polish insurrection of 1831, and the title he was exchanged for that of a plain citizen of the United States, and he would be today an exile in Siberia were it not for the intervention of the United States government. It is this romantic chapter in his history that Mr. Meyendorff recites in his lecture. Few men can point to such a thrilling experience, and no other but Mr. Meyendorff can trace a release from Siberia to the kind offices of the United States. He entered the last Polish revolution when he was but a boy of not yet 14 years, after participating in a few battles he was taken prisoner and sentenced to banishment to Siberia for life. He saw the inside of several Russian prisons, and finally marched on foot with 200 other political prisoners to the wilds of Siberia, where he remained in exile eighteen months. He had a half brother in the United States, who did valiant service for the civil war, and at his request President Lincoln, through Secretary Seward, petitioned the czar to allow Mr. Meyendorff to come to America. The czar granted the request and Mr. Meyendorff was released. He came at once to this country, where he finished his education and has since resided. His experiences in the old country he has put in the shape of a lecture, which he will soon deliver in all the large cities of the country under the management of Major Pond. He has delivered it in Helena, Butte, Spokane and other northwestern cities, and is met with the warmest commendation from press and people. It is interesting to old and young alike, and Salt Lakeers will no doubt be pleased that an opportunity of hearing it is to be afforded them next Tuesday.

One of the charming social events of the past week was the wedding reception tendered to Mr. Claude V. Russell and bride, at the home of the groom's mother, on East Fifth street, on Thursday evening. The young couple were married at the temple Thursday afternoon. The groom is well known in Salt Lake, and the bride, who is the daughter of Bishop Woolley of the Ninth ward, is one of Salt Lake's most charming young women. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and a few of the near relatives and friends of the bride and groom assembled and wished the happy couple a long, prosperous and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

A dancing party will be given at Christensen's hall on Friday evening, October 18, by the Free Kindergarten association, under the chaperonage of the ladies who are interested in its welfare.

Dr. Pinkerton is entertaining his old time New York friend Dr. Charles Armstrong.

The Unity club met last Wednesday evening and was highly entertained by the lecture of Professor George W. Marshall upon "Early New England." The literature and traits of the people were graphically described and some amusing accounts were given of the abundance of literature written at that time, most of which was worthless, although now, the books are worth their weight in gold. He spoke of compulsory education at that time and the severe discipline which the pupils experienced under it. One of the requirements for entering college, was to read, write and talk fluently Latin and Greek. However, theology was the important subject of that time. It was interestingly brought out that Utah owes much of its success to the industry and zeal of the Puritans since its early inhabitants were from New England.

Nineteenth Century Club. The Nineteenth Century club met on Friday, Oct. 11, and in the absence of president and vice-president was called to order by the secretary. After the reading of the minutes for Sept. 27, Miss Florence Pemberton gave the principal paper of the afternoon, her subject, "German Music and Philosophers of the Eighteenth Century," was a vast one and was excellently handled. She followed the lives of some of Germany's greatest musicians through their struggles to their pitiful closing and marked carefully the contrast between the trials of a lifetime and the honor and renown which follow them today.

Among the philosophers Kant, Fichte and Hegel, Miss Fitch added a very interesting account of the life and works of Caroline Herschel. Her account was very interesting and was followed by a reading of a review of "Desire the Bonnie Brash" and read several delightful extracts from Miss Alice Kellogg's new book, "The Life of the Day and the Night," which she read for one week.

STOP AND STEP. To the Woman's Club, for your millinery and dressmaking, 44 Main street, next to Johnson, Pratt & Co.

WEBER SOCIETY EVENTS. Two prominent society people of Ogden were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Thomas C. Conway and Miss Louise Kiesel were the parties. Rev. A. A. Andrew performed the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church. The bride's costume was of duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Miss Julia Kiesel was bridesmaid and Harry Grugeneau acted as best man. Julius Kiesel, father of the bride, gave her away. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

A pretty, though quiet wedding of two young people took place in the city on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fretwell in Utah. Rev. G. M. Jeffrey of Ogden performed the ceremony. The bride was Miss Maud Alexander of Ogden, W. L. Wadsworth was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

Mr. M. A. Meyendorff of Helena, now spending a few days in Salt Lake on his way east, has consented to deliver his famous lecture in this city. The Woman's club have decided to present him with him to deliver the lecture once under their auspices, and they will share in the receipts. In fact, as the lecturer bears the bulk of the expense, the event may be looked upon as a Woman's club benefit. The lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Congregational church on East First South street.

Mr. Meyendorff's rank in Poland was that of a colonel, which he inherited from his father, but his estates were taken from him by the czar because of his participation in the Polish insurrection of 1831, and the title he was exchanged for that of a plain citizen of the United States, and he would be today an exile in Siberia were it not for the intervention of the United States government. It is this romantic chapter in his history that Mr. Meyendorff recites in his lecture. Few men can point to such a thrilling experience, and no other but Mr. Meyendorff can trace a release from Siberia to the kind offices of the United States. He entered the last Polish revolution when he was but a boy of not yet 14 years, after participating in a few battles he was taken prisoner and sentenced to banishment to Siberia for life. He saw the inside of several Russian prisons, and finally marched on foot with 200 other political prisoners to the wilds of Siberia, where he remained in exile eighteen months. He had a half brother in the United States, who did valiant service for the civil war, and at his request President Lincoln, through Secretary Seward, petitioned the czar to allow Mr. Meyendorff to come to America. The czar granted the request and Mr. Meyendorff was released. He came at once to this country, where he finished his education and has since resided. His experiences in the old country he has put in the shape of a lecture, which he will soon deliver in all the large cities of the country under the management of Major Pond. He has delivered it in Helena, Butte, Spokane and other northwestern cities, and is met with the warmest commendation from press and people. It is interesting to old and young alike, and Salt Lakeers will no doubt be pleased that an opportunity of hearing it is to be afforded them next Tuesday.

One of the charming social events of the past week was the wedding reception tendered to Mr. Claude V. Russell and bride, at the home of the groom's mother, on East Fifth street, on Thursday evening. The young couple were married at the temple Thursday afternoon. The groom is well known in Salt Lake, and the bride, who is the daughter of Bishop Woolley of the Ninth ward, is one of Salt Lake's most charming young women. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and a few of the near relatives and friends of the bride and groom assembled and wished the happy couple a long, prosperous and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

A dancing party will be given at Christensen's hall on Friday evening, October 18, by the Free Kindergarten association, under the chaperonage of the ladies who are interested in its welfare.

Dr. Pinkerton is entertaining his old time New York friend Dr. Charles Armstrong.

The Unity club met last Wednesday evening and was highly entertained by the lecture of Professor George W. Marshall upon "Early New England." The literature and traits of the people were graphically described and some amusing accounts were given of the abundance of literature written at that time, most of which was worthless, although now, the books are worth their weight in gold. He spoke of compulsory education at that time and the severe discipline which the pupils experienced under it. One of the requirements for entering college, was to read, write and talk fluently Latin and Greek. However, theology was the important subject of that time. It was interestingly brought out that Utah owes much of its success to the industry and zeal of the Puritans since its early inhabitants were from New England.

Nineteenth Century Club. The Nineteenth Century club met on Friday, Oct. 11, and in the absence of president and vice-president was called to order by the secretary. After the reading of the minutes for Sept. 27, Miss Florence Pemberton gave the principal paper of the afternoon, her subject, "German Music and Philosophers of the Eighteenth Century," was a vast one and was excellently handled. She followed the lives of some of Germany's greatest musicians through their struggles to their pitiful closing and marked carefully the contrast between the trials of a lifetime and the honor and renown which follow them today.

Among the philosophers Kant, Fichte and Hegel, Miss Fitch added a very interesting account of the life and works of Caroline Herschel. Her account was very interesting and was followed by a reading of a review of "Desire the Bonnie Brash" and read several delightful extracts from Miss Alice Kellogg's new book, "The Life of the Day and the Night," which she read for one week.

STOP AND STEP. To the Woman's Club, for your millinery and dressmaking, 44 Main street, next to Johnson, Pratt & Co.

WEBER SOCIETY EVENTS. Two prominent society people of Ogden were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents. Thomas C. Conway and Miss Louise Kiesel were the parties. Rev. A. A. Andrew performed the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church. The bride's costume was of duchess satin trimmed with point lace. Miss Julia Kiesel was bridesmaid and Harry Grugeneau acted as best man. Julius Kiesel, father of the bride, gave her away. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

A pretty, though quiet wedding of two young people took place in the city on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fretwell in Utah. Rev. G. M. Jeffrey of Ogden performed the ceremony. The bride was Miss Maud Alexander of Ogden, W. L. Wadsworth was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock and after this a wedding dinner was served to the guests, who were chosen from the intimate friends of the bride and groom. Appropriate toasts were proposed and responded to in the most tactful and valuable manner. The system in which the young couple are held.

Mr. M. A. Meyendorff of Helena, now spending a few days in Salt Lake on his way east, has consented to deliver his famous lecture in this city. The Woman's club have decided to present him with him to deliver the lecture once under their auspices, and they will share in the receipts. In fact, as the lecturer bears the bulk of the expense, the event may be looked upon as a Woman's club benefit. The lecture will be delivered next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the Congregational church on East First South street.

Mr. Meyendorff's rank in Poland was that of a colonel, which he inherited from his father, but his estates were taken from him by the czar because of his participation in the Polish insurrection of 1831, and the title he was exchanged for that of a plain citizen of the United States, and he would be today an exile in Siberia were it not for the intervention of the United States government. It is this romantic chapter in his history that Mr. Meyendorff recites in his lecture. Few men can point to such a thrilling experience, and no other but Mr. Meyendorff can trace a release from Siberia to the kind offices of the United States. He entered the last Polish revolution when he was but a boy of not yet 14 years, after participating in a few battles he was taken prisoner and sentenced to banishment to Siberia for life. He saw the inside of several Russian prisons, and finally marched on foot with 200 other political prisoners to the wilds of Siberia, where he remained in exile eighteen months. He had a half brother in the United States, who did valiant service for the civil war, and at his request President Lincoln, through Secretary Seward, petitioned the czar to allow Mr. Meyendorff to come to America. The czar granted the request and Mr. Meyendorff was released. He came at once to this country, where he finished his education and has since resided. His experiences in the old country he has put in the shape of a lecture, which he will soon deliver in all the large cities of the country under the